Build a Brand Your Customers Will Love

Hardik Dhanesha, Brand Designer

Auroma believes every business has the potential to transform itself into a successful brand. And we are so glad that we have proved it many times.

We are Auroma Production, a creative studio and branding agency based in Gujarat, India. Our creative approach is founded on our belief that less is more, simple can be significant, and every screen is an opportunity. We work hand-in-hand with our clients through every phase of the design process to develop authentic brand identities and deliver engaging virtual experiences. From concept through completion, we provide an organized framework of support, guidance, and experience to help you create a brand worthy of the value that your business provides.

We work smarter to find useful insights faster. Get brand strategy that's a powerful mix of market research, real-world experience and packaging design validation.

We specialize in branding and packaging design. Much of what we do is about working with our clients to get the most out of their branding, through intelligent evolution and natural creativity. We don't just design products and services, we design unique experiences.
